EATcetera hosts free Kid Zone at Galveston Railroad Museum during ArtWalk

GALVESTON, TX – The EATcetera Kid Zone at the Galveston Railroad Museum makes it easy to bring the kids along for ArtWalk. EATcetera and the Galveston Railroad Museum invite families to enjoy a free EATcetera Kids Zone at the Galveston Railroad Museum (EKZ@RR), 123 25th Street, on Saturday, June 4, from 4 to 8 p.m.

The Kid Zone offers children's activities, including a bounce house and games and crafts provided by local businesses and organizations, including Antique Warehouse, Turtle Island Restoration Network and Keepin' It Green recycling service. Activities are open to children ages 12 and under with an accompanying adult. EATcetera's second location at the Railroad Museum serves a kid-friendly menu, including burgers, Chicago hot dogs, ham and cheese paninis, and a selection of favorites from their restaurant menu.

As part of the Kid Zone, the Railroad Museum offers train rides for $10 per person. Another highlight is Texas Afterschool Centers on Education's display of student artwork highlighting Asian American/Pacific Islander Heritage Month and the Black History Month Art Winners.

EATcetera's main location at 408 25th Street is also open for dinner during ArtWalk. For more information, call 409.762.0806 or 409.765.5700.
